The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

From the Mouths of Babes

Children in a fourth grade class of a St. Louis school took a look at the energy crunch recently and offered solutions that appear better than some that come from our Big Brothers in Washington and Sacramento.

The study was supplied to PETROLEUM TODAY, the magazine that fronts for the petroleum industry and steals cute material from little tykes school papers.

No matter how the publication acquired the material, it is cute. And it's worth repeating.

Observed the youngsters:

"Put a plastic bag over the pipe in back of the car and catch the stuff that comes out so it can be used again.

"Cold engines take more gasoline. Everybody should put insulation around their engines.

"Find out if oil has a different name besides petroleum and look for it under that name.

"Help around filling stations so they can have more time to go out and drill for oil.

"Don't have so many days people have to drive to work or school. (Especially school).

"Cars don't have to be all that clean. Have more pools for people instead of cars.

"Find oil on the moon.

"Fix it so cars can travel piggyback on roads like they do on trains.

"Everybody should drive faster so they won't be on the road so long using gasoline.

"Change jobs so that everybody is working at the place closest to their homes.

"Don't drive more than one car at a time.

There's a lot of imagination in these responses. One naive young lady even suggested that we call on the government in Washington for help.

The poor dear. How does she think it got so screwed up in the first place?

The Art of Gasoline Pricing

It doesn't take a person of remarkable memory to recall, a number of years back, the introduction of leaded gas. "Of course," the oil industry told us, "it will cost more because of the additives."

Eventually, it was not possible to get anything but leaded gasoline at regular gasoline pumps. Some dealers handled lead-free (white) gas for those who used it for cleaning purposes. Such gasoline was cheaper than the treated variety.

Now, it is mandatory for gasoline pumping stations to include at least one unit pumping no-lead gasoline. The price is a cent higher than leaded gas.

If we were to follow oil industry's previous pricing policy it could be explained that it costs a couple of cents to put additives in and a couple more cents to take them back out!

Maybe one of their scientists can devise a scheme for not putting the additives in at all and save the public the entire in-out charge. In fairness, it should be noted that the octane rating of lead free gas has been raised.

Promises, Promises

Not all presidents, particularly those of the past few administrations, could measure up to young George Washington's character when he answered a question posed by his father. ". . . I cannot tell a lie . . ." is the way historians reported it.

Historians may even want to measure that statement against former president Nixon's recently when his leg phlebitis recurred and is reported to have refused to go to the hospital because ". . . I'll never come out."

At least one anti-Watergate observer wryly opined, "No one has proved him to be a liar, but he certainly doesn't keep his promises." Nixon is due to be released next week.

From the Business World

"True capitalism means that a business is privately owned and operated for a profit, with prices being controlled by competition. Any time government intervenes, a form of socialism is born." — A. B. McLaughlin, North Hollywod

Monte Vista Campus Quiet After Mini-Fracas

All appeared quiet on the Monte Vista campus this week following a small uprising that occurred Wednesday when a dispute resulted from lower class using a lawn area usually reserved for seniors.

Rock throwing and fist fights broke out Wednesday and Thursday; some fanned by off campus people. It soon developed into a Mexican-American Anglo issue.

During the height of the trouble, on Thursday, several persons were arrested. One official estimated the number to be 18. Charges ranged from rock throwing to disturbing the peace. At least one arrest was made when officers found a gun in the car of a student.

Some of the students taken into custody will face the school board for possible expulsion, according to Ed Foster, one of three assistant principals at Monte Vista.

A shortened school schedule on Friday apparently broke the back of the small uprising when off-campus drivers cruised the area after school was let out two periods early.

Foster said no further trouble is expected unless off-campus people create it. It is not likely that such people can get on campus, according to sheriff's deputies.

"We can handle our kids," Foster said. "They are not a problem. It (the trouble) has cooled."

Principal Bob Brady is culling the list of antagonists to decide who will get board treatment.

Bobby Sox Champs To Be Feted in S.V.

They'll honor the Bobby Sox softball team that won the national championship.

Members of the Spring Valley All Star team will be the center of attraction when members of the community and local, county, state and national officials pay homage to the team Saturday.

The ceremony will be held at Spring Valley Park, Jamacha and Gillespie st. in Spring Valley starting at 2 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Spring Valley Parks and Recreation Advisory Council.

Master of Ceremonies is Al Couppee, a former athlete himself of national fame. Couppee is a noted sports broadcaster now "color man" for the Chargers on TV 39.

According to Herb Kettel, president of the SVP&RAC, Dick Brown, County Supervisor will head the local list of officials.

The program, as listed by Kettel, is: reading of a wire from Gov. Reagan; congratulations to the team by Brown, Lloyd Lowry, director, Parks and Recreation Department, San Diego County; U.S. Congressman Lionel Van Deerlin; Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh; Members of the Padres Baseball club and Miss Spring Valley who is Sharon Meyer.

A Barber Shop Quartet will provide music and punch will be served.

Local groups will make presentations to the team, Kettel said.

Brookside Flood Cost Opinion Asked

Supervisor Dick Brown has asked the Board to approve an expenditure of $500 for a mailing to residents in the Brookside area to ascertain reaction to a modified flood control program in that area.

A previously considered plan carried a seven million dollar price tag and covered three flood basins.

A one-basin project which would include covering the open drainage ditch along Fairway drive would cost about two million dollars Brown said. The cost would be assessed against approximately 2,500 pieces of property in the basin and would cost each $100 to $300 a year for ten years, Brown said.

Between 30 to 45 per cent of the cost would be obtained from other sources than property owners.

Several property owners in the Brookside area have attempted over the years to have a three-zone flood control area constructed and paid out of public funds.

The mailing is a letter and a reply post card. Property owners are asked to respond by December 1.

Two Face Charge on Heroin

Sheriff's deputies arrested Steve Joseph Wantoch, 23, and Michael Thomas Wantoch, 25, for being in possession of and under the influence of heroin early Sunday morning when they were observed at the front door of a house at 8203 Blossom lane, Spring Valley.

Police indicated that the pair were trying to gain entrance to the house at 2 a.m. and investigation indicated that they were under the influence of a narcotic.

The auto in which they arrived contained 15 grams of heroin, syringe and needle and a spoon. A charge of possession of narcotics paraphernalia was added.

Sup. Brown to Speak To Public at S.V. Chamber Meeting

County Supervisor Dick Brown speaks at the General Assembly Meeting of the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce, Monday evening.

The talk, open to the public, concerns how the S.V. community will be served now that the Valle de Oro Planning Association is no longer recognized by the Board of Supervisors. A question and answer period follows.

The meeting is at 7:30 in the Spring Valley Elementary School Auditorium, 3845 Spring st. off Bancroft dr.

Two Women Charged With Shoplifting

Two Negro women were arrested Tuesday in Linda's at 7865 Broadway, Lemon Grove after the store's salesperson charged that some of the items they had tried on were missing.

A female employee of the Sheriff's office in Lemon Grove conducted an examination and found the missing items—some of which were being worn under their own clothes.

The women, Cynthia Ann Willis, 22, of National City and Christine Virginia Sharp, 22, of San Diego, were scheduled to be arraigned this week in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Great Booze Comic Getaway Is Failure

Shades of the Keystone Cops.

Two Negro males entered the San Alton Liquor store at 18827 Massachusetts Tuesday night and asked for a quart of 7 Crown and a half gallon of Chevas Regal—the latter being an expensive brand.

The clerk became suspicious and put his revolver within easy reach.

When it came time to pay, the suspects broke and ran. The one in the lead stumbled over a newsstand near the entrance. He dropped the half-gallon of Chevas Regal and it broke. He kept on running.

The second suspect saw the clerk draw his revolver. He ran into the newsstand and broke his quart of 7 Crown.

The clerk running after them slipped and fell on the glass-littered sidewalk.

The suspects jumped into their 1961 4-door Ford and made their getaway while the clerk was firing at them without success.

Both robbers were about 21 and 5-10. Both weighed about 155 pounds. One wore a jump suit.

Armed Robbers Take $55,000 From College Grove Store

A guard was shot Monday while carrying $55,000 in cash and checks from Walker Scott Department Store in College Grove.

Two robbers escaped in a car they had seized earlier on Euclid ave.

The robbers were tracked to Mission Valley Shopping Center where they dumped the checks in a waste container and set them afire.

Witnesses described the men as Negroes in their mid-30's who were picked up by a white woman accomplice.

The guard, Clyde Bixby, 53, was shot in the groin as the robbers wrested the money bag from him. The getaway car was later found with smears of blood on its hood. The blood apparently came from Bixby after they shot and wrestled with him.

The holdup occurred about 2:45 in the linen department of the department store and more than 25 people were in the immediate vicinity at the time.

Bixby is in Villa View hospital where his condition was described as satisfactory Tuesday.

Environmental Agency Improves Own Environment—Girl Intern

There is an addition to the Environmental Development Agency (EDA) that is as pretty as the environment is scheduled to be.

Joan Werner was recently assigned for the next 9 months to the County of San Diego under the National Urban Fellows Program. This is her first crack at local government after working two years with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in Washington. She is the only girl intern in EDA.

Werner says she prefers working on a local level rather than federal. "In local government the issues are more manageable. You're closer to the real problems," she explained.

A special assistant to Allan Colman in EDA, Warner will be working on the legislative review process, the growth policy, and other special projects that arise.

The 26-year-old brunette from New Jersey earned a B.A. in psychology at Bucknell U. in Lewisburg, Pa. She received her M.A. in public administration at the U. of Michigan while working concurrently as a program analyst with the EPA Motor Vehicle Emissions Laboratory.

Although she does not consider herself a "women's liber", Werner does support many goals of the movement. But she say, "it's not one of my foremost concerns unless I am personally affected."

Two Workshops Offer Child-Rearing Hints

Two workshops related to child-rearing strategies are offered by UCSD this month.

"Active learning is based on an old Chinese proverb which states "if you do, you understand," says Amity Buxton, instructor of an upcoming course UCSD Extension will offer teachers and parents.

The course, "Active Learning — Experiences and Resources," will introduce in a workshop format a system of teaching which is a departure from traditional approaches to educating children. With active learning, children are given opportunities to apply abstract theoretical knowledge to practical experiences.

The course, which carries a $25 registration fee, is held Friday evening, October 18, 7-10 p.m., and Saturday, October 19, 9 a.m.-4 p.m. in Rooms 1101/1102 of Tioga Hall on UCSD's Muir Campus.

Social trends affecting the emotional health of children in today's American families will be a topic heath workers, teachers, school counselors, and parents will have an opportunity to learn more about, at a second workshop Saturday, October 19.

The event, titled "Raising Healthy Children — What Does It Really Take?" is offered jointly by Extension's departments of Education and office of continuing education in the health sciences. A major objective is increasing awareness of alternate lifestyles among people who influence the lives of children.

Participants will meet in Room 2100 of the School of Medicine on UCSD's Matthews Campus, from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. A registration fee of $16 will be charged.

To enroll in either workshop, call UCSD at 452-3400.

HOME-COOKED

This Week's RECIPE

Seasonal Vegetables Make Tasty, Thrifty Meal

NEW YORK (ED) — Vegetable cookery is an art that even the best cooks seem to find hard to master. Actually, there's no reason to avoid vegetables and every reason to include vegetable main dishes in a well-rounded menu plan.

They're inexpensive, because they're based on the abundance of the season; they're nourishing; they're really easy to do; and they have the delicious advantage of being different.

Some of the best are based on the Italian tradition (thrifty European cooks have always included vegetables in their repertory) — like this stuffed eggplant, updated for American quick-cooking methods, it should find favor at the dinner table, or as an easy-to-handle main course for a backyard picnic.

ITALIAN STUFFED EGGPLANT

2 Tbsps. olive oil
2 cans (8-oz.) tomato sauce
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tsp. sugar
¼ tsp. basil
salt and pepper
2 medium-size eggplants

Add tomato sauce to olive oil. Blend in other ingredients except eggplants; simmer 20 minutes. Reserve sauce. Cut eggplants in half. Cook in salted water until just tender. Drain and scoop out pulp, leaving shells about 3/4" thick. Reserve pulp. Fill with stuffing. Place in shallow baking dish. Pour reserved sauce over stuffed eggplants. Bake in preheated 375° oven 30 minutes. Serves 6.

STUFFING FOR EGGPLANT

3 Tbsps. olive oil
1 lb. chopped chuck
¼ cup chopped onion
Eggplant pulp, chopped
1 cup Italian flavored bread crumbs
2 eggs, slightly beaten
3 Tbsps. grated Parmesan cheese
¼ cup chopped parsley
salt and pepper

Brown chopped chuck lightly in hot oil. Stir in remaining ingredients; mix well. Fill eggplant shells with stuffing.

Depend on us for top interest.[1] And flexibility.[2]

It would be nice to have a savings account that earns top interest.

It would also be nice to have a savings account you could dip into any time.

With this in mind, we suggest you stop by your nearest Bank of America office.

We have Certificates of Deposit that earn 7¼% annual interest. All you need is a minimum investment of $1,000 for at least 4 years. Or as many as 10 years if you wish. Then no matter what happens to the interest rates, you've locked up that 7¼% high interest for the time you specified. We must mention that Federal law prohibits withdrawals on Certificates of Deposit prior to maturity unless three months of interest is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the regular savings rate.

Which brings us to the regular savings account at Bank of America. The perfect place for the rest of your money. Because if you need it in a hurry, you can get it in a hurry. Put it in, take it out anytime. That's what we call flexibility.

For the right combination of savings plans, depend on us. More Californians do.

Tommy Jacobs Plumps For Golfing Ladies

Tommy Jacobs, director of Golf at La Costa Country Club, who can still hold his own with the biggies on the Professional Golf Assn. tour, appeared at the weekly Sportscasters/Sportswriters Association luncheon Monday at Seven Seas Lodge to put in a plug for the ladies.

Jacobs extended a welcome on behalf of PGA pros in the San Diego area to the gals who will be competing in the Cubic Corporation Ladies Professional Golf Association Classic on October 18-20 at Stardust Country Club.

"We're all pleased with the increased purses offered the last few years on the nationwide LPGA Tour," Jacobs said. "And those girls on the tour are great golfers. An event like this is an asset to golf in San Diego and the charities who will benefit from the tournament."

Jacobs has been deeply involved with the largest local tournaments in his capacity as director of the MONY Tournament of Champions at La Costa and as an official of and a player in the Andy Williams San Diego Open at Torrey Pines.

During his years on the tour he won the San Diego Open in 1962 at Stardust CC, defeating Johnny Pott in a sudden-death playoff. He turned pro in 1956 and became a member of the 1965 Ryder Cup Team. Jacobs has four wins in major tour events.

After having been a member of the PGA Tournament Committee for two years, Jacobs became its chairman in 1965-66.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Now doesn't that beat all. You can flunk all your courses this semester and be granted amnesty when it comes time to don the cap and gown. At least you can if you're college folk. Sorry, the forgiveness policy hasn't gone down to the high school set, yet.

It was all in a story printed in the big downtown papers earlier this week. It seems the California State University and College trustees have decided that poor college work is to be forgiven if a student lands a good grade in another subject later on.

Now that sounds great. For one thing it gives a college athlete a real chance to work on his sport and not have to worry about classes until his senior year.

Just a simple extension of this philosophy and football, baseball, basketball and track students will be liberated from class room drudgery except for one final year when they must hustle profs for high marks just like other students.

Of course, the athletes have a good thing going under National Collegiate Athletic Asscciation (NCAA) Rules. According to the "book," college jocks may take five years to complete four years of eligibility. The design was to keep a school from red-shirting (stacking) potential starters during good supply years.

But now there is an entire new concept jumping into being. Now you play your studs the first four years and let them take the fifth for class. Just think of the advantages. Football spring practice could begin in January and run through June. You could develop split second timing and professional execution of even the most complicated formations.

No more will the college jock be locked into a schedule where he must study Chaucer or Kant, no more will he (or in this libber age, she and/or it) be bothered by the beauty of Shakespeare or the thoughts of Horace. No longer will the mind be boggled to ponder the words of Disraeli, Einstein or Churchill. At least not until the fifth dimension. Then hard work for the windup and good grades for the record and all is forgiven. That's progress.

If only the same thinking could be applied to other fields. If, per chance, one could call upon forgiveness in an athletic contest. Think what an adventage it would be if your quarterback could be excused for throwing an interception. Just call it a "no-play," and keep possession of the ball. Only fourth quarter interceptions count. The same with missed blocks, tackles and the like.

The kicker says he "intended" to boot the ball over the end zone. His word is to be taken as truth and the ball is put into play on the 20. All mistakes are excused and perfect execution (as seen in the minds of the coaches) could be demanded on appeal to the officials.

The end result ,of course, would be perfection. A touchdown on every play. The scores would be astronomical. And the game would lose all meaning, all purpose.

Football is really a slice of life. Rewards are earned on hard work, effort and talent. And you can't legislate them away in favor of "everybody wins." The spirit of success in many an enterprise found its start in the honesty of athletic competition. Effort, talent, and hard-work — magic ingredients in life as well as in sport.

The athletic field is a place where children can really learn how to become adults. And that's funny. I always thought that's what colleges and universities were supposed to do, too.

Roman Gabriel Meets His Old Boss in Stadium Sunday at 1 p.m

Quarterback Roman Gabriel returns to Southern California Sunday to face his old Ram coach, Tommy Prothro, as a ringleader of the top passing team in NFL in 1973.

Gabriel leads the Philadelphia Eagles against the Chargers in the S.D. Stadium beginning with the 1 p.m. kickoff.

The Eagles (2-1) of coach Mike McCormack have beaten Dallas, 13-10, and Baltimore, 30-10, in their last two games.

Coach Tommy Prothro's improving Chargers (1-2) almost pulled off the miracle of Mission Valley before succumbing to the Miami Dolphins, 28-21, last Sunday.

It will be the first NFL meeting between the teams. The Chargers beat the Eagles, 24-17, in a pre-season game at San Diego last year.

Last week with 8:30 remaining in the fourth quarter, San Diego led the Miami Dolphins, 21-7. But Miami scored then and scored twice again. A tremendous Charger effort ended in the ashes of a 28-21 defeat.

Finest Quarter

"It was one of the finest fourth quarters we've ever had," said Miami coach Don Shula. "We were lucky to get out alive. I am impressed with San Diego."

Cheered by an emotion-overflowing crowd of 44,706, the Chargers stunningly had outplayed the Super Bowl champions until the fourth quarter disaster.

Unsung rookie running back Don Woods dashed through and darted around the Dolphins' famed "no-names" defense for 157 yards, an 8.7 average, and touchdown runs of 1 and 56 yards.

Receiving perfect pass protection for the second successive Sunday, quarterback Dan Fouts completed 14 of 22 for 189 yards and hit tight end Wayne Stewart for a 21-yard touchdown. Jerry LeVias caught five passes for 58 yards.

San Diego's defense recorded two interceptions, two sacks and tackle Dave Rowe blocked two attempted field goals.

Coach Tommy Prothro sadly summed up the loss: "Except for the outcome I was pleased with the team. But the outcome is what counts. I am terribly disappointed."

Instant Star

Charger running back Don Woods surprised San Diego press box observers as well as the Miami Dolphins by running for 157 yards and two touchdowns last Sunday. It was the best rushing performance in the NFL this year.

"Don Woods, who's he?" the question was repeated.

Woods is a 6-foot-1, 191-pound rookie from Denton, Tex., and the University of New Mexico. A No. 6 draft choice of Green Bay, he was released by the Packers on their final cut and signed by San Diego for the $1000 waiver price prior to the season's opener.

Woods made an instant impression on the very first pro run. He gained 21 yards during San Diego's 98-yard, fourth quarter touchdown drive to upset Cincinnati two weeks ago.

With rookie starter Glen Bonner sidelined, Woods was listed as second-string to Bobby Thomas against Miami. But once tested, he never left the battlefield. "He can run a sweep like a deer fleeing a forest fire," wrote San Diego Union sports editor Jack Murphy after the game.

One Charger not surprised by Woods' performance was defensive line coach Rudy Feldman, who was head coach at New Mexico until this year.

"Don has the natural ability, speed and elusiveness," said Feldman. "But he has plenty to learn. The more he plays, the better he will get."

Woods was the nation's leading running quarterback at New Mexico in 1973 with 971 yards on 220 carries and 11 touchdowns. He also passed for 869 yards and 5 touchdowns to rank 20th in total offense. In three previous years at New Mexico Highlands, he amassed 1,607 yards rushing.

Asked to comment on Woods after the Miami game, teammate Bobby Howard replied, "He's amazing. We haven't seen anybody like him around here since Paul Lowe and Dickie Post."

Next Week

In a San Diego home game rescheduled from Nov. 17, the Oakland Raiders will face the Chargers on Sunday, Oct. 13.

Train Trip thru Baja

A one-day train trip to Puerto Penasco, Sonora, and back is set for Saturday, November 2. The train leaves the Calexico-Mexicali crossing at 8:45 a.m. and returns about 9 p.m.

In Puerto Penasco, excursionists will view waterfront activities and attend a fiesta at a local hotel.

Record-Setting Padres Top Million

The final home game produced the second largest turnout in club history, the San Diego Padres set no less than 24 assorted attendance records in the 1974 season and completely rewrote their list of top 10 single game crowds.

The major accomplishment, of course, was the season attendance figure of 1,075,399 for the Padres 76 home dates. The club finished with an average attendance of 14,150 and wound up 463,593 ahead of last year's figure.

Previously, the best the Padres had been able to manage on the season level was 644,272 in 1972.

Additionally, the Padres came up with 16 new records for series attendance against the other clubs plus seven single game highs against specific clubs.

The top figures for the season series were 205,066 for the nine games with the Los Angeles Dodgers and 147,174 for nine outings with the Cincinnati Reds. All five National League Western Division clubs drew more than 100,000 in series attendance in San Diego, the first time this has ever happened. Joining the Dodgers and Reds were Atlanta (115,308), Houston (113,487) and San Francisco (107,007). The best series against the Eastern Division was 78,040 for six games with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Padres top 10 list for single game attendance also underwent some drastic changes as five new crowds found their way onto the select list including the top two turnouts in club history.

San Diego drew an all-time record of 44,504 for the May 25 game with the Cincinnati Reds and then closed things out with a 41,055 figure for the home finale against the Dodgers.

The Padres also had their fourth largest crowd (39,083 for the season home opener with Houston), fifth (36,052 for Atlanta) and ninth (33,237 with Cincinnati) this year.

Apart from these five dates, the Padres had three crowds earlier in the season which cracked the top ten, but were bounced out later on by larger gatherings. These were: 29,278 for the Dodgers, 31,342 for the Mets and 31,407 for one of the six games with the Phillies.

Mike Avrea, Pacesetter For Aztec Runners

The San Diego State cross country team, led by junior transfer Mike Avrea, will run Saturday at 11 a.m. in a four-way meet at USIU's new Miramar campus.

Avrea was the individual winner last weekend in a triangular meet at Stanford, running 20:20 for 4.2 miles. This was his second win in a row.

The Aztecs finished third with 64 points, behind West Valley Track Club (27), and Stanford (39).

The Stanford coach said that Avrea's time, though 40 seconds off the course record, was one of the fastest early-season times ever.

Earl Robinson finished 11th for the Aztecs in 20:55. Rounding out the top five were Matt Berenda, Pete Papps, and Odie Huffman.

Aztecs Rest Up For PCAA Opener October 12

The Aztecs, sporting a 2-1 grid record, draw a bye this week in preparation for the PCAA season which lies just ahead.

Fresno State comes to San Diego on October 12 for a PCAA contest, followed by San Jose State and Long Beach State. Both games will be in San Diego Stadium.

After a road game with North Texas State in Denton on November 2, the Aztecs come home for a conference finale with Pacific and games against New Mexico State, Bowling Green and Utah State.

Last week the Aztecs topped Texas (El Paso) 26-12 in a game played in the Sun Bowl. San Diego State rolled up 417 yards total offense, including 301 yards rushing. The 301 rushing yards are the most by a San Diego State team since the Aztecs gained 454 in 1966 against Mexico Poly.

Bill Kramer was the leader of the rushers with 126 yards on 15 carries. Kramer gained 131 yards on 17 carries last week against Tampa and is the first back since Del Pifer in 1969 to gain over 100 yards rushing in back-to-back games.

Kicker Benny Ricardo set an Aztec school record, booting four field goals. He also had two PAT's to end the night with 14 points. Ricardo's field goals were from 47, 30, 28 and 41 yards. He barely missed a fifth try from 51 yards. The old record was two field goals in a game held by Ricardo and Dennis Haughn.

100-Lap Open Heads Cajon Speedway Action

Grand National stock car star Jimmy Insolo filed an early entry for Saturday night's 100 lap open competition auto race at Cajon Speedway.

Insolo, a former Pacific Racing Assn. stock car champion, has won five Grand National West features this season and will be making his second appearance at this ⅜-mile banked oval.

Saturday's feature will draw drivers from several other race tracks in the Far West, including Saugus, Las Vegas, Irwindale and Orange Show Speedways. Last year, Bill Spencer of Pomona won the Cajon 100 lapper and Hugh Pearson of Bakersfield was the overall winner of the series.

Joining Insolo on the early entry list are Dan Press of Arleta, Calif., and Chris Robinson of San Fernando.

Other leading invaders figure to be Chuck Becker of San Bernardino, Bill Osborne of Pomona, Ivan Baldwin of San Bernardino, Jim Sanderson of Las Vegas and Eddie Bradshaw of Bakersfield.

The program, which gets underway with qualifications at 6:30 consists of a six-lap trophy dash, two semi-mains and a consolation before the 20 car feature.

Heading the local list of challengers will be newly-crowned Ron Overman of El Cajon, two time champion Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley and charging Jim Hitt of Lemon Grove.

Overman became the 1974 ECSCRA champion last week, beating Crossland by four points. This was the closest finish in Cajon Speedway history. Crossland finished fourth in last year's open comp 100 lapper.

Hitt figures to have his streamlined Mach 1 Ford back in action for this race, and he had to use a backup car last week after blowing an engine in practice.

This will be the final race program at Cajon Speedway and will complete a successful year. With the big showdown event through last week, a total of 97,965 fans have viewed competition at the popular racing plant.

Flores Leads Caliente Jocks For 8th Week

TIJUANA — Jockey Ramon Flores continues to amaze everyone with his riding ability and for the eighth straight weekend was the leading jockey at Agua Caliente with five wins to move another notch closer to the lead held by Wilfrido Osuna.

Flores now has 49 wins compared to Osuna's 51 as the leader added three wins himself during the Saturday-Sunday programs at Caliente.

A native of Culican, Sinoloa, Mexico, the 21-year-old Flores began his riding career there five years ago with quarter horse match racing on the plains. He rode his first win on a recognized track at Mexico City and is hoping to debut in the United States during the upcoming Santa Anita meeting.

Since there was not a lone winner in the 5-10 handicapping contest over the weekend, the reserve jackpot climbed to $75,648 and will be added to the regular pool on Saturday, should there be a single ticket holder sweeping the card.

First post time is 12:30 p.m. with 12 races scheduled both Saturday and Sunday at Agua Caliente.

Gang-Fight Tactics Likely When Garcias Meet Friday

A Mexican gang-fight would be less exciting.

And less damaging, too.

When the two Garcias meet Friday night at the regular 8 o'clock set-to at Mickey Davies' Coliseum, it will require a computer to count the blows.

It will take a miracle for one of them not to get KO'd—and quick. They're both scrappers who love a challenge. And each will accommodate the other.

The Garcias are Renato Garcia, a classy Chilean who has recorded 13 wins in a row at the Coliseum.

He will fight one of the toughest guys in the ring today—Chu Cho Garcia of Mexico. They are middleweights.

In a fight back in April, Renato could only eke out a decision over Chu Cho. Since then Chu Cho has put together a string of three fights in a row. But his brawling style may catch Renato off balance and if he does, 13 might be the unlucky number in Renato's string.

In a companion piece Andy Price of Los Angeles will match up with Shig Fukuyama of Japan. They are welterweights.

Last Week

It's not hard to argue with the officials when fights are as close and wild as the middle weight bout Friday night between Mike Avans of Phoenix and Jose Martin Flores of San Diego. Even the officials were split.

The three had it 4-5; 5-2 and 3-5 with Flores getting the nod. Both middleweights were cut by the 10th round and both were almost out of gas. It looked as if they put 110 per cent in the effort, with the crowd on its collective feet at the bell.

In a featherweight battle between Oscar Ortiz and Abdul Bay, the latter got the decision when Lopez spit his mouthpiece intentionally whenever he got belted too hard. The referee took a point away in each of two rounds for the infraction. It made no difference, however. He didn't win any of the six rounds.

A lightweight fight between Claude Durdan and Thomas Nava ended abruptly when a flurry of lefts and rights put Nava down for the count at 1:35 of the first round.

In a featherweight scrap, Julio Lopez fought Gerald Robinson to a draw.

Part of the proceeds of the fights go to aid storm victims in Honduras.

Friday fights are videotaped by Davies for distribution along the west coast and elsewhere.

Locals Bruce, Kertzman Enter LPGA Classic

Louise Bruce and Karolyn Kertlman, two promising local members of the current Ladies Professional Golf Association tour who both earned Player's Cards in 1972, have announced their entry in the $35,000 Cubic Corporation LPGA Classic on October 18-20 at Stardust Country Club.

Chet Pagni, General Chairman of the tour event benefitting Junior Achievement and the Community Campership Council, announced the entry at the weekly meeting of the Sportscasters - Sportswriters Monday at 7 Seas Lodge.

Pagni also announced that tickets would be available at Sears stores, military Special Services offices, golf pro shops, Cubic Corps. plants and at the LPGA office at Stardust CC.

Bruce, 20, twice winner of the Junior World Championships held here, has finished in the top 10 five times this year. Her best payoff was in the Sears Women's Classic in Port St. Lucie, Florida where she took fifth in medal play after defeating Joanne Carner and Kathy Cornelius in preliminary match play.

Kertzman, 24, who like Bruce represents Carlton Oaks CC in Santee, is currently 34th on the LPGA's 1974 money list ahead of such players as Cornelius and Betsy Rawls.

Bruce and Kertzman are among a group of the top 40 players in women's golf who will compete in Japan after the event in San Diego.

Missing Camper And Truck Found In Spring Valley

A "Vacationer" camper mounted on a 1971 Ford pickup was stolen from the home of a La Mesa man two weeks ago.

Last week the truck was found, partially dismantled on a lot on Arapaho st. in Spring Valley.

The owner, M. W. Dickson, of 5991 Howell dr., La Mesa, visited the scene of the found truck to see if the license plates could be found. On a lot adjacent 9730 Arapaho st. he spied a trailer that looked like the one he lost—but the color was slightly different.

Further investigation by the sheriff's department indicated that Lindel and Betty Jean Sexton, who live at the Arapaho address, had missing parts of the camper in their garage. They admitted repainting the camper. They were charged with grand theft and are to be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Double-Pricing Items By Markets Condemned

Legislation to prevent supermarkets from marking up the price of items already on the shelves will be co-sponsored by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego.

Van Deerlin said if enacted the bill should help consumers in the San Diego area, where living costs rose nearly 12 percent during the past year.

He said many market chains "routinely reprice upward on goods already in stock whenever the wholesale price of a particular item is increased."

In this fashion, he explained, stores avoid having to carry two or more prices on the same item. "But it's also unfair," he added. "The amount charged for a product on the shelf should be based only on its cost—not on what similar items produced later may cost."

The bill to stop repricing was drafted by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y. It has been sent to the House Commerce Committee, of which Van Deerlin is a member, for study and possible action. The measure will be reintroduced this week.

The San Diego lawmaker said the bill would "serve to dampen inflation," although it could be superseded by enactment of "more stringent price control legislation."

Van Deerlin said he has seen reports of items being marked up "two or more times" by stickers being placed one on top of the other.

"Not only is this inflationary, it's also infuriating," he siad. He added he does not know how widespread repricing is in his district "but nationally most food store chains do engage in this practice."

15-Year Old 'Crime Wave'

A fifteen year old youngster—a veritable crime wave in himself—has confessed to five recent burglaries in the Monterey Heights area.

Since early August he said he burglarized the following places:

1500 block, Drexell st. Gun, tools, tape recorder, rings.

2100 block Ensenada, pistols and tape cassette.

7800 block, Alton dr., portable radio.

1700 block, Elroy st., couldn't get in.

2100 block, Eldora, took items from a van parked in the resident's yard.

He gave some of the loot to his teen-age friend, he said.

Marden Says Illegal Aliens Cost Many Jobs

Wes Marden, Republican candidate for the 42nd Congressional District Seat, charged in a speech at his Lemon Grove headquarters opening that 3 million jobs in this country are being held by illegal aliens.

Marden said, "This situation is intolerable and the lack of action by our current congessman inexcusable. Our district is the largest entry point in the United States for illegal aliens, over 1,000,000 a year with only about 220,000 apprehended.

"If these 3 million jobs were made available to our citizens, it would cut our unemployment rolls in half and be a real stimulus to the U.S. economy."

Marden also announced that John J. Rhodes, Republican Minority Leader in the House of Representatives has endorsed his candidacy.

Rhodes said, "The 94th Congress will face many difficult decisions. There will be a need for common sense, for straightforward action by Congress to meet our complex problems. Wes Marden can do a real job for the 42nd District."

Troop 351 Cleans Up Fiesta Isle Park

Fiesta Isle is a bit more scenic today thanks to efforts of Scouting Troop 351 of Highlands Elementary School in Spring Valley. Under the leadership of Scoutmaster James Seyler, the troopers spent one day of a September 20-22 camping weekend picking up litter in the park.

Among the 23 scouts on the outing, four patrols were represented: Senior Patrol, Roadrunner, Cobra, and Owl.

On Saturday the scouts set off in patrols to police the area as part of their conservation program. They collected over ten large plastic bags of paper, cans, and other litter.

The Owl Patrol topped the others by bringing back 3½ bags, much of it being aluminum cans for recycling.

On Sunday the scouts enjoyed swimming, hiking, cooking and games and observed the Hydroplane Race.

Prey Upon Elderly

Fraud Fails to Lure 2,100 From La Mesa Victim

A few days ago a La Mesa woman with a sense of co-operation nearly lost $2,100 from her savings account.

Good sense and her nervousness saved her moey—but a less wary person was bilked the next day according Detective Bob Torbett of the Sheriff's Fraud Detail.

The way the caper almost worked was when a man purported to be a bank examiner convinced an elderly La Mesa woman that he was trying to apprehend bank employees he suspected of thievery. He ask-her to draw $2,100 out of her account in $100 bills after which he would take the money and give her a receipt and later re-deposit her money.

She became nervous and suspicious and notified law enforcement officials. Apparently the "examiner" became nervous and suspicious, too. He didn't come to her home to pick up the money.

However, a man utilizing the same name and same mode of operation the day before convinced an elderly North Park woman that she should help apprehend the "dishonest" bank clerks. He met her in the bank's parking lot and gave her an "official" receipt. She waited at home for his telephone call which never came.

These suspects usually dupe elderly victims, Torbett said. Official public agencies never solicit funds from private persons for investigative purposes, he reminded.

Those contacted by persons claiming to be bank examiners should contact the Fraud Unit at the Sheriffs office at 236-2951, he said.

Metropolitan Water Opposes Prop. 7

The Metropolitan Water District of S. Cal. is opposing Prop. 17 on the November 5 ballot as a "dangerous precedent" that, if passed, could destroy orderly planning and deveopment of vital public works projects in California.

Specifically, the initiative measure could halt construction of the New Melones Dam on the Stanislaus River in Northern California, primarily a local project that has become a statewide issue with the placing of Proposition 17 on the ballot.

"There has been strong support for construction of the dam because of its widespread benefits in terms of flood control, water conservation, water quality improvement, electric power generation and fish and wildlife enhancement," the board resolution read.

Regional Airport Remains at Lindbergh Field

The La Mesa Chamber of Commerce voted to support maintaining the location of Lindbergh Field for the Regional Airport for the time being.

Factors which were considered in coming to this decision were: 1) The possibility of a high speed surface system between San Diego and Los Angeles, 2) The study of what impact the elimination of general aviation use would have on Lindbergh Field operations and 3) the effect that controlled growth in San Diego might have on the need for expanded facilities.

Off-ramp, Incorporation Discussed by Chamber

At the monthly meeting of the L. G. Chamber of Commerce, President Dell Lake announced that contracts had been awarded and work will begin this month on the long-awaited Lemon Grove freeway off-ramp.

Guest speaker at last Thursday's meeting at the Los Cazadores Restaurant, 7836 Broadway, L.G., was Wes Marden, 42nd District candidate for U. S. Congress.

In other action, it was announced that a county study on L.G. incorporation is now under way following general approval by residents who recently attended a public hearing on the subject.

Plans were also discussed for the manufacture and sale of Lemon Grove license plate frames as a possible fund-raising activity of the Chamber.

Counseling For Seniors By Phone

A County-wide, toll free telephone information and counseling service for the elderly has begun.

The program, dubbed "Operation Independence", provides information about all services and programs for older people in San Diego County, regardless of where the older person might live.

To contact "Operation Independence" call 280-6120. If the call would be a toll call, ask the operator for ZE 7-6120.

Senior centers, information centers, senior citizen organizations and service agencies will be tied into the system to encourage responsive delivery of service. Older people will soon be hired as community information specialists to link the elderly requesting services to the agencies that can help.

The program is administered by the Adult Protective Services and financed by an Older American's Act grant, awarded by the County's Office of Senior Citizens Affairs. Catherine Watson is director of "Operation Independence."

Sup. Smith Outlines Campers' Regulations For Hunt Season

Cleveland National Forest Supervisor Donald H. Smith recently announced camping regulations for the upcoming hunting season.

No special hunter camps are set up this year. Stoves, tables and toilets set out in previous years have been severely damaged by vandalism and wear and tear, and the Cleveland National Forest doesn't have the funds to replace them.

Fully self-contained vehicles will be allowed to "camp" along back-country roads, this season, provided no fires are built outside the vehicles.

Tent campers and others will be permitted to camp only in areas designated by the Forest Service. A map showing these sites will be posted in the Supervisor's Office in San Diego and at the Ranger Stations. Only liquid or gas fueled camping or back-pack stoves will be permitted in these sites due to the extreme fire hazard conditions in the Forest.

Area Swimmer has Olympic Potential

By Mike Boyd

He doesn't have an extraordinary build, in fact Grossmont H.S.'s Gary Rees might be considered on the slim side. And you don't hear him popping off about the records he has shattered. When you're that good you don't need to.

During the past swimming season, Gary received a certificate that is indicative of the kind of swimmer he is. He now holds the CIFSDS swimming record in the 200 yd. freestyle with a 4:42.7 mark and swam a lap on the winning 400 yd. freestyle relay.

One of Gary's most cherished achievements was being CIF Swimmer of the year for the second time last year.

Outside of the CIF records, Rees holds two Amateur Athletic Union records, and is fortieth in the nation in the 1500 meter.

Rees wants a scholarship to swim at Southern Methodist University. He also would like to make it to the Olympic Trials.

The average passenger car is driven over 10,1000 miles during a year.

Natural History Society Plans Big Centennial

The 100th birthday of the San Diego Society of Natural History will be celebrated Sunday, October 20 at the Natural History Museum in Balboa Park.

The event will be highlighted by the opening of a major exhibit hall, the Sefton Hall of Shore Ecology, a day-long film program, the Navy's Drum and Bugle Corps, marching groups, speeches by Mayor Pete Wilson, and tours of the Museum's outdoor ecology exhibit, the Florida Canyon Nature Trails.

Founded as a regional museum specializing in the natural history of the southwest area on October 20, 1874 by a group of San Diego naturalists, doctors and businessmen, the Society of Natural History became the parent of both the world famous San Diego Zoo and the nation's foremost institution for the study of oceanography, Scripps Institution in La Jolla.

The Mayor will proclaim the week of the 20th through the 26th Natural History Week and the celebration of the 100 year anniversary will continue through the 26th with films and special events scheduled at the Museum.

Democratic Conference Filing Deadline Nears

The candidates' filing period for the national Democratic Charter Conference nears for California Democrats and they are urged to participate in the delegate selection process now underway statewide.

The Charter Conference, or, as it is more formally known, the National Democratic Conference on Party Organization and Policy, will be held on December 6, 7, and 8 in Kansas City, Mo. It is being convened to adopt the first constitution for the Democratic Party in its two-hundred-year history. Some policy matters, yet to be designated, will also be discussed.

The California delegation, the largest to attend the Conference with 181 members, could be the key not only to the outcome of this conference and the quality of the constitution adopted, but also in the determination of the ground rules for the 1976 National Convention, a spokesman said.

The only requirements for running for election as a delegate are Democratic voter registration and residence in the Congressional District the candidate wishes to represent.

Nomination applications are available through October 15th at all Democratic Party headquarters.

The delegate selection will take place at Congressional District caucuses on November 9th throughout the state.

Caucus sites will be announced at a later date.

Congressional District organizing committees have requested volunteers to help provide the broadest possible dissemination of information regarding the Conference, the draft charter and the delegate selection plan. Names of C. D. Co-chairpersons are available at State Party headquarters upon request.

The draft charter, hammered out over the past year-and-a-half by the Charter Commission, has already stirred deep controversy. Hotly debated and left largely unresolved at the last Charter meeting, are articles dealing with the establishment of future party issues conferences, a judicial committee to resolve party conflict, the selection of the national chairman and an affirmative action program to guarantee full participation in all party affairs.

More Allocations To Boost Employment

Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) disclosed that high unemployment areas in California will be getting an additional $12.6 million in federal funds to finance 2,000 public service jobs this month.

The money is in addition to the $97 million, for some 15,000 city and county public service jobs in Caifornia, which the Senator announced in July.

The newest California allocation of $12.6 million, Cranston said, is part of the $65 million in discretionary funds which President Ford released for nationwide use last week to ease a worsening unemployment situation.

San Diego County (outside of San Diego City, Chula Vista and El Cajon) will be allocated $674,976 to help lower an 8.3% unemployment rate.

S. D. City, Chula Vista, and El Cajon will get $1,145,192, $106,666, and $74,526 respectively. Unemployment in these areas is running at 9.2, 9.1, and 8.6%.

Mills Asks Competition For Dairies

Senator James R. Mills of San Diego, President pro-Tempore of the State Senate, last week changed his posture regarding the milk industry and suggested more dairy competition.

Generally supporting the industry's positions, Mills claims he had a rude awakening last week.

Said Mills, "For 14 years I have been voting on dairy industry bills. Generally, milk pricing regulations are so complex you need experts you can trust to develop a stand on the laws.

"I felt betrayed by the men who have advised me on milk pricing over the years when I learned that this summer, in a time of food price increases, 420,000 gallons of "surplus" fresh milk were dumped into the sewers of Los Angeles. I intend this statement to be fair warning to the dairy industry that I, for one, will not put up with this kind of stupid disregard for the public welfare.

"The peak milk production months are June and July. How about a state law allowing the price of milk to drop each June and July? How about trying to get the dairy industry back into a competitive situation? How about applying some of the simple rules of capitalism? It seems to me the milk industry could use a healthy shot of free enterprise in the free market place. If we are going to continue regulating prices in the dairy industry, we must at the very least demand a little common sense.

Tramway Opens

The Palm Springs Aerial Tramway is again open after being closed for its annual maintenance.

The Tramway has undergone a general refurbishing. "This includes overhauling of the traveling works and painting the cars inside and out, O. L. McKenney, general manager, said.

IRS TAX ANSWERS

F. S. Schmidt, DISTRICT DIRECTOR, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I work full time, but this fall during the congressional race I will be taking off some time from my job to serve as an election official helping to register new voters and assisting at election booths. I will receive a fee for these services. Is this kind of income taxable?

A. Yes, and you must include in your gross income all fees paid to you as an election official.

Q. I am a registered nurse and I plan to return to work this fall after a three-year break to be at home with my young daughter. In order to go back to work, I plan to enroll her in a day care center where she will take meals and play.... supervised.... learning games as well as receive care. Can I deduct the entire cost of the day care or must I exclude the expenses for food and education?

A. Expenses for nursery school or day care for preschool dependent children may be deducted, subject to certain limitations, if paid to enable you to be gainfully employed.

Benefits incident to the care, such as food and education, are not child care expenses. But, if the manner of providing care is such that your payment covers other benefits that are inseparably a part of the care, then the entire cost is deductible as a child care expense.

For example, if a nursery school charges a flat fee that includes lunch, recreational activities, and other benefits, the full amount paid would be deductible.

However, benefits will not be considered an inseparable part of the care if the expense includes education in the first or higher grade level. Such expenses must be apportioned between the cost of care for the child and the cost of education.

For further information on this subject including limitations on the amount of deductions for child care, consult IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care." It's available free at many IRS offices.

Q. I am a college student majoring in education. My school has deferred my tuition payments until I graduate and begin teaching in the state. How does this affect my income tax?

A. Deferral of a student's tuition obligation to a college or university until the student's later working years is not income to the student and no tax is involved. However, if the debt is eventually forgiven, there is a tax on the amount of the loan in the year the loan is forgiven.

Q. I rent out a house that I own. Recently, the tenants requested me to patch some cracks in the cement patio and build a fence across the back of the property. Can I deduct the cost of these projects as rental expenses?

A. To be deductible, a repair to rental property you own must not appreciably add to the value, utility or useful life of the property. Incidental repairs which keep the property in efficient operating condition, such as mending leaks, or in your case, fixing the patio, are deductible. Building the fence would add to the value of the house and such an improvement would not be deductible. The cost of the fence however, may be depreciated over its useful life.

For further information on depreciation, see IRS Publication 534, "Tax Information on Depreciation," available free from most IRS offices.

California Unemployment Rate Drops

California's unemployment rate dropped from 7.8 percent in July to 7.6 percent in August. The total number of jobseekers in August was 705,800, down by 49,300 from the July total of 755,100.

At the same time, employment increased by 92,300 to reach 8,479,700 — a new record. The previous record, set in June, was 8,463,600.

Commenting on these figures, the state's Employment Development Department Director, Rich Camilli, said the drop in unemployment was partly accounted for by the usual late-summer withdrawal from the labor force of summer jobseekers.

"Anyone who is looking for work, even part-time summer work, is counted among the unemployed, so when students get ready to go back to school at this time of the year and stop registering for work, the unemployed count goes down," Camilli said.

"In addition, a large number of workers who were unable to work because of several trade disputes in July were back at work in August," Camilli added, "so this helped to cut the unemployment total. We don't count strikers among the jobless, but we do have to count those who are laid off, even temporarily, because of such disputes."

However, Camilli noted that the number of unemployed was considerably above the total for the same month last year. In August, 1973, total unemployment was 618,000 and the unemployment rate was 6.9 percent.

Environment Head Train Urges Long-Range Plans

The United States is confronted with basic material and natural resource shortages and had better start facing up to the almost "overwhelming reality" of long-range problems of energy, food supply, human numbers, and uncontrolled growth, Environmental Protection Agency administrator Russell Train warns.

Writing in the Fall issue of Cry California, the quarterly journal of the conservation organization California Tomorrow, Train says further:

"The fact is that the really critical issues before the country are not the immediate and isolated ones, but the interrelated and long-range ones — indeed, the 'day-to-day' crises that seem to capture all our attention and consume all our energies are, for the most part, simply manifestations of far deeper problems that we never seem to get around to acknowledging, much less addressing."

Tracing the typical American approach to land settlement from the country's beginnings, Train notes a "characteristic" tendency to regard the frontiers as limitless.

Train reports that, based upon seminars conducted last year in the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, in which he participated, a specific proposal has been developed to provide the country with long-range assessment capability.

The proposal, reports Train, "recommends establishment in the executive branch and in the Congress of an Office of Strategic Policy Assessments. The basic task of the office in the executive branch would be to identify emerging long-term trends and problems, to spell out and evaluate alternative courses of action . . . and to assess actions already under way. It would have the opportunity to review and comment upon the President's budget, federal resource-allocation decisions, major Presidential policy decisions and policy statements, and legislation with important long-term policy implications.

To assist Congress, the proposal advocates either a strengthening of the Joint Economic Committee, or that the long-range analysis and assessment function be given to the new Office of Technology Assessment, whose board is composed entirely of members of key committees of the House and Senate.

What is most important, Train concludes, is that these new capabilities be established as competent and enduring institutions, "whose cumulative efforts will enable us, as a nation, to come to grips with the kinds of problems that will increasingly confront us in a new age of scarcity and interdependence."

Don't Panic; IRS Letter Only For Record-keeping

LOS ANGELES — The Internal Revenue Service is mailing questionnaires to many California residents to correct those of its records which reflect discrepancies between the taxpayers' names and social security numbers, W. A. Bates, IRS district director for Southern California, announced.

"In processing federal income tax returns, we have found that in many joint-return situations the spouse's social security number as shown on the return does not agree with our records. The wrong number may have been entered or the spouse may now be using a name different from that shown on the records of the Social Security Administration. To process tax returns correctly and to insure that we have only one account for each taxpayer, we need to make sure that social security numbers are valid."

To correct the discrepancies, the IRS Service Center in Fresno, Calif., is mailing a questionnaire to all Southern California taxpayers whose social security numbers are in question.

"Receipt of a questionnaire is no cause for concern," Bates said. "The questionnaires are not notices of audit, nor are they indications of any IRS investigations.

The IRS will also work with the Social Security Administration to have accurate social security cards issued to those taxpayers who require them. Taxpayer contact with the Social Security Administration will not be necessary.

KCST-TV Bought By Storer Broadcasting

The FCC recently approved the transfer of UHF television station KCST-TV, San Diego, from Western Telecasters, Inc., to Storer Broadcasting Company for the sale price of $12,000,000 cash.

The addition of KCST-TV, an affiliate of the ABC Television Network, brings the company's complement of television stations to the limit of seven, five VHF and two UHF, the maximum allowed by the FCC.

PALM SPRINGS — The annual Snowfall Guessing Contest at the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway began this week, announced O. L. (Mac) McKenney, general manager.

Contestants are invited to guess, by mail, the date the first inch of snow or more will fall in Long Valley at the 8,516-foot top of the Tramway.

Prizes are two Ride 'n Dine combinations. These include round trip tram fare and dinner at the top.

Each guess must be submitted on a separate postcard to: Public Relations Dept., P.O. Drawer FF, Palm Springs, California 92262.

Job Placements Down

More than 40,000 jobseekers in California were placed in jobs in August by the state's Employment Development Department. During August, the department's employment service offices throughout the state placed a total of 41,448 job applicants, compared with 54,192 in July and 44,595 in August 1973.

For the period January through August, the cumulative total of "job placement transactions" (counting individuals more than once if placed in more than one job during the period) was 370,267, compared with 275,772 during the same period of 1973.

Chamber Asst. Resigns

The recent resignation of L. L. "Bud" Harrington, Chamber Assistant General Manager, has been accepted "with regret" by the San Diego Chamber of Commerce. A veteran Chamber executive, Harrington plans to pursue as yet unannounced personal objectives in the San Diego area, and has agreed to serve the Chamber as a consultant pending the Chamber's acquisition of additional staff personnel.

Slower Speed Cuts Gas Use

California's motorists seem to be driving as much as ever, but the reduced speed limit appears to be holding down gasoline consumption below that of a year ago, according to Board of Equalilation Member John W. Lynch.

Lynch released Board data on gasoline distribution to retail outlets for the month of July which show a drop of 2.9 percent in gasoline distributions from July of 1973. Distributions were up 3.3 percent in July over the June 1974 figures, which compares with a June-to-July 1973 increase of 3.7 percent.

Revenue to the state from the 7-cents-a-gallon levy on gasoline was down a corresponding 2.9 percent, from $63,639,163 in July 1973 to $61,767,133 in July 1974.

July's figures mark the eighth straight month of decreasing distributions from the same month of a year ago.

The monthly decline from the same month the year before: January 1974 down 6.6 percent from January 1973, February down 8.5 percent, March down 12.6 percent, April down 4.1 percent, May down 5.4 percent, June down 2.6 percent, and July down 2.9 percent. For the year to date (first 7 months of 1974 compared with first 7 months of 1973) distributions are down 6.0 percent.

The Board reported earlier that in one-year's time, July to July, the number of service stations decreased statewide by 1,753, down from 21,018 in July 1973 to 19,265 in July 1974.

State Cites Employers On Compensation Laws

Hundreds of California employers are facing investigation and possible criminal charges for failure to carry workmen's compensation insurance.

Robert E. Howard, State Labor Commissioner, announced today that his staff has begun investigating 1508 employers suspected of violating labor laws requiring workmen's compensation protection for employees.

Howard also said his new program of direct contacts with California employers caused another 1,974 to immediately sign up for the protective insurance coverage.

Howard pointed out that "failure to carry workmen's compensation is a misdemeanor that could subject an employer to criminal prosecution. If an employee were injured, the employer would be subject to the assessment of unlimited civil damages."

HONORARY CHAIRMAN WINFIELD—Padre outfielder Dave Winfield, designated Honorary Chairman of the Tay-Sachs Prevention Testing Clinics to open in S.D. this month, is flanked by Mrs. Charles H. Schwartz and Mrs. Alfred Jalowayski, of Jewish Women's Organization, one of the sponsors. The free clinic will identify and treat high-risk couples for the disease.

Citizens Urged to Fight Fruit Flies

Discovery of adult male Oriental Fruit Flies, along with larvae of this insect in the Clairemont area was reported by County Agricultural Commissioner Kenneth K. Little, Jr.

Federal, State, and County agricultural authorities have launched an intensive trapping campaign to determine the extent of the infestation and to eliminate the adult flies. He asked that all citizens cooperate with members of his staff who are placing some 500 traps in the area surrounding the infestation.

The clear plastic traps contain a sex lure to attract the insects, and a small amount of insecticide to insure that flies entering the traps will not escape. In addition, food and sex lure bait stations will be placed in the area.

Damage from the Oriental Fruit Fly is potentially serious because the insects attack so many varieties of fruits and vegetables. Among its 150 potential hosts here are oranges, lemons, grapefruit, peaches, tomatoes ,apricots, avocados, figs guavas, and many other crops and fruit-bearing ornamentals.

Specimens found in the Clairemont area are the latest of several Oriental Fruit Flies trapped outdoors on the U.S. mainland in the past decade, and the second time they have been found in San Diego County. The discovery of larvae is the first of its kind in the continental United States.

The adult Oriental Fruit Fly is slightly larger than a housefly, yellowish in color, with dark stripes running across its abdomen. Its wings are clear with a thin band along the front edge.

Interested fruit growers and homeowners are requested to report the occurrence of fruit infested with maggots, especially if the fruit is on a tree or has recently fallen from a tree. Such finds should be reported to the County Department of Agriculture, Weights & Measures at 565-5764.

'Bomb Dogs' Seen For Lindbergh Airport

Lindbergh Field may be in line to receive a team of two "bomb dogs" specially trained to sniff out explosives secreted on board aircraft.

This was disclosed recently by Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, who discussed the dogs, which he termed "a new twist in law enforcement," at a Sheriff's Academy graduation ceremony in the San Diego Gas & Electric Co. auditorium.

The Sheriff's Department already has volunteered to provide handlers for the dogs, Van Deerlin said, adding the proposal currently is under evaluation by the Federal Aviation Administration. If the FAA finally approves assignment of a dog team to Lindbergh, he said, the project would be eligible for funding by the federal Law Enforcement Administration.

"In similar projects elsewhere, LEAA has been paying all costs of training the dogs and their handlers," Van Deerlin told the graduates. The training takes place at Lackland Air Force Base, at San Antonio, Texas, and on return to home stations the dogs, usually German Shepherds, are assigned full-time to the handlers.

"The idea is to have the dogs always on call, although no one expects a bomb alert emergency every day," Van Deerlin said. When not at the airport, the dogs can be assigned to other tasks by the controlling law agency.

YOU AND YOUR PET

by: Robert L. Stear D.V.M.

Once you decide to own a purebred dog — a dog whose father and mother are of the same blood and descent — your selection should not be idle or arbitrary.

If you are experienced in the care of a purebred dog, you may want to discuss your intention with a veterinarian. Give him the details of your immediate environment, stating whether children are in the house, the amount of exercise space available and some idea of the kind of dog you want.

The American Kennel Club lists approximately 115 dog breeds, divided into six basic groups: Sporting, Non-Sporting, Toy, Hound, Working and Terrier.

An important consideration in selecting the right breed of dog is where will he live: city apartment, suburban or country house, or farm.

If you are an apartment dweller, try not to select a breed that requires a great deal of exercise — unless you are able to walk him often and extensively. Terriers and toy breeds require little exercise and thus easily adapt to apartment life.

Smaller size breeds such as the Boston, Pug, Miniature Poodle or Cocker are also good. On the other hand, working dogs, some sporting dogs and hounds are accustomed to hard exercise. And, because they have big appetites and must walk off what they eat, they tend to grow fat on a daily 15-minute walk.

For the suburban dweller, the size of the dog does not present much difficulty. The ability to control his movements does. Large dogs may jump fences and destroy property. But small dogs can sometimes be hard to see, and may be struck by a car.

For the country dweller, the breed of dog will most likely be determined by the owner's particular needs. For example, if the property is overrun by rats and vermin, a Terrier might be the best choice. For centuries, Terriers were bred to ferret out rats and rodents.

If, on the other hand, general protection of the property is necessary, then a Bullmastiff would be a good choice. This breed combines the strength of the Mastiff and the alertness and aggressiveness of the Bulldog.

Overall, if you live in the country or suburban area, larger dogs would be more desirable, because they would have more room in which to exercise. Breeds suitable for this environment range from the medium size Springer Spaniel to the Collie, Doberman, Airdale, Great Dane and Saint Bernard.

Above all, don't buy a particular breed simply because you admire your neighbor's dog. If you are not sure and have had no experience with purebred dogs, your best bet is to discuss your intended purchase with a veterinarian.

CARE Sends Urgent Appeal for Aid To Hurricane Victims

In response to urgent requests by telephone from Teguclgapa by Jerry Lewis, CARE country director in Honduras, the International Aid Agency which has been distributing food to hurricane refugees the day after the storm struck, has undertaken to rush an additional $237,000 worth of foods and medicines to the hapless victims.

Honduras is a poor country and must depend on outside aid for help to feed and provide emergency assistance to the tens of thousands of hurricane survivors and for the massive reconstruction that will be essential."

CARE has issued an appeal for funds for continuing crucial emergency aid to the victims and for vital rehabilitation and reconstruction. Contributions may be sent to CARE / Honduras Hurricane Relief at 4055 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif. 90010.

Census to Ask About Home Upkeep

Questions on expenditures for the upkeep and improvement of residential properties are being asked of a sample of households in this area by Bureau of the Census interviewers during this week.

The survey is taken four times yearly to provide a continuing measure of this segment of America's economy.

Why Unleaded Gas?

If you are thinking about buying one of the new 1975 model cars, it is important to know that most of these cars can only use unleaded gasoline. Why unleaded gas? It has to do with clean air and the catalytic converter, a device in most 1975 cars for reducing automobile exhaust pollutants.

In a new, free publication, "Why Unleaded Gas?" the Environmental Protection Agency explains why the grade of gas is critically important to the life of your catalytic converter and discusses the availability of unleaded gas. Single copies are free from Consumer Information, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.
